QUESENBERRY'S, INC. ANNOUNCES NEW LEADERSHIP
Highly-Regarded Commercial Contractor Selects Third-Generation President

Big Stone Gap, VA: Abran S. (Abe) Quesenberry, PE, has been named president of Quesenberry's, Inc., a commercial contractor and construction manager who has served southwest Virginia and surrounding states for over 70 years. Quesenberry previously served as vice president of the firm. He succeeds Spencer D. Quesenberry, PE, who will continue in the day-to-day operations of the company as vice president.

"I'm honored and excited for the opportunity to lead this tremendous company," Quesenberry said. "Quesenberry's success is directly attributed to the hard work of our skilled employees as well as the relationships we have built with our clients, sub-contractors, architects, and design teams."

"Under the past two generations of leaders, this company has continued to grow and prosper. Quesenberry's is now recognized as one of the premier contractors in our region. My goal is to continue to provide the outstanding construction services our clients have come to expect while building on the success and past accomplishments that we have worked so hard to achieve," he continued.

Quesenberry has been involved in all facets of the construction process, working his way up from general laborer to President. His recent project-related experience ranges from large higher education projects such as the David J. Prior Convocation Center and new Library at UVa-Wise, to numerous smaller projects serving local education, infrastructure, and community needs. He is currently overseeing the construction of a 15,000 square-foot expansion for Northeast State Community College's Regional Center for Advanced Manufacturing (RCAM) in Kingsport, TN that is scheduled to be completed this fall.

Quesenberry holds a bachelor's degree in civil engineering from Virginia Tech and is a registered engineer in Virginia. He is a LEED Accredited Professional and is certified by the University of Wisconsin-Madison as a Commissioning Authority with Building Enclosure Knowledge Requirements. He is a member of the American Society of Concrete Contractors, the American Society of Civil Engineers, and the National Society of Professional Engineers.

As part of this leadership change, Quesenberry's has also named David C. Rock as Operations Manager. Rock comes to his position with 18 years of construction experience. As the former president and owner of Rock Construction, Inc. in Roanoke, VA for eight years, he led construction projects in the retail, municipal, healthcare, and financial sectors. Prior to founding his own company, Rock worked for contractor Breakell, Inc. as project manager and executive vice president. He attended Virginia Tech's College of Architecture and Urban Studies.
